If the product information you are seeking does not appear below, it is possible that the product holds a European licence and its information may be available at the European Medicines Agency website.

Before a medicine can be sold in the UK, a number of licences are essential. Products with a UK marketing authorisation have a licence number in the format 'PL 12345/0001', 'PLGB 12345/0002' or 'PLNI 12345/0003'. The licence number can be found on the packaging of the product and the first 2 characters are always contain the letters 'PL'.

You can identify the product in the list below using the PL, PLGB, PLNI, THR, THRGB, THRNI, NR, NRGB or NRNI number.

The information about a medicine will be updated when new evidence becomes available. This may mean that there are differences between the information in the pack and the information here. The most up-to-date information will be available on this site.
