LUBRICANT GEL WITH LIDOCAIN

USAGE AREAS

ONEGEL is a sterile, water-soluble lubricating gel used to lubricate catheters and other medical devices during urethral, colon and rectal applications such as urethral catheterization, endoscopy and cystoscopy.

It can be also used for rectal and colonic applications as a lubricant gel.

The most important function of the gel is to form a lubricating layer between the catheter or other medical device and the urethral, rectal and colonic mucosa.

PRODUCT PROPERTIES
