Certificate Of Origin

This is to certify that Fortinet, Inc. currently sources the following product/s with country of origin as designated below. (Note: Country of origin is determined by the country where the unit is manufactured or when two or more countries are involved in the production, it will be the country in which the last substantial manufacturing or transformation process of economic value took place. Country of origin can only be determined after the products have been manufactured and or assembled. This means the origin estimated at the time of tender might be different from the actual origin at the time of shipment. This certificate does not cover any changes and/or additional manufacturing that may occur after shipping from Fortinet locations).
