SUMMARY

Creative PR specialist, copywriter and video production manager. Education and training in the country and abroad, as well as working in international companies have redefined my style, giving it clarity and depth. With over 15 years of significant and progressive experience in media, marketing and PR, journalism, copywriting, television and video production, I'm always looking for the perfect wording and visual formula that ideally plays the thought and correctly conveys the message. In my position within QUBO Communications I perform a wide variety of activities, including developing creative concepts, copywriting and content writing, handling promotional campaigns, writing scripts, video production, editing and translating copy, working with social media, training junior copywriters. A rich journalism experience in print and TV media has enhanced and educated my ability to research, to analyze information, to formulate thoughts clearly and precisely, which proved to be of great value in the communications field. My professional pathway and my passion for languages have fostered an outstanding level of expertise within the communication industry and excellent linguistic skills.
