

Certificate of Compliance

This document certifies that MicroBioLogics ("The Company") conforms to the requirements of the ATCC Licensed Derivative™ program for ensuring the identity and purity of ATCC[®] microorganisms contained in Quality Control microbiology products. The Company is hereby allowed to display the ATCC Licensed Derivative™ emblem on its own product literature and website to identify microorganisms licensed from ATCC[®].

The ATCC Licensed Derivative™ emblem signifies:

- The Company has passed ATCC's audit process and has signed a license agreement with ATCC[®].
- The Company has agreed to follow ATCC's handling protocols and testing procedures with regard to microorganisms contained in Quality Control microbiology products.
- The Company has allowed ATCC[®] to assure the identity and purity of those microorganisms before the product is sold to the end-user.

Through the ATCC Licensed Derivative™ program, ATCC[®] assures that the microbial strains contained in commercial Quality Control products marked with the emblem have been handled according to specifications and standards of ATCC[®].
