In production, the mineral salt is often precipitated as a calcium salt, such as calcium malonate, and then dissolved in water to give a solution of calcium malonate. This solution is then mixed with a solution of calcium chloride to give a solution of calcium malonate and calcium chloride. This solution is then mixed with a solution of calcium chloride to give a solution of calcium malonate and calcium chloride. This solution is then mixed with a solution of calcium chloride to give a solution of calcium malonate and calcium chloride.
