4. APPLICABLE STANDARDS

4.1 ISO 16890

Air Filters for General Ventilation

The above products intended for general ventilation applications are classified and tested according to ISO 16890 requirements. The standard evaluates filter performance with respect to particulate matter fractions PM1, PM2.5 and PM10 under representative operating conditions and establishes internationally recognized performance classifications.

4.2 EN 1822-1:2019 / ISO 29463 Series

High Efficiency Air Filters (EPA, HEPA and ULPA)

The H14 HEPA products covered by this declaration are manufactured and tested in accordance with the applicable requirements of EN 1822 and ISO 29463. These standards define classification, MPPS efficiency determination, integrity testing and leak detection requirements for high-efficiency filtration products.

4.3 EN 16798-3:2017

Energy Performance of Buildings – Ventilation for Non-Residential Buildings

The filters listed in this declaration are intended for use in ventilation systems designed and operated in accordance with the performance requirements of EN 16798-3 and contribute to indoor air quality and ventilation effectiveness.

4.4 ISO 14644-1:2015

Cleanrooms and Associated Controlled Environments

The H14 HEPA filters identified herein are suitable for applications requiring controlled airborne particulate concentrations and support compliance with cleanroom air cleanliness classifications when incorporated into appropriately designed and validated systems.
