

The standard form for the European Single Procurement Document

The European Single Procurement Document, thereafter the ESPD, is a self-declaration that provides preliminary evidence and replaces certificates issued by public authorities or third parties. It is available in the State language and English and is used as a preliminary proof of fulfilling the necessary conditions in the public procurement procedures in the Republic of Moldova. Due to the ESPD, bidders are no longer required to provide full documentation in different formats as previously used in public procurement procedures, which is a significant simplification of access to cross-border bidding opportunities. Starting in October 2018, ESPD will be available exclusively in electronic form.

The Ministry of Finance provides a free web service for buyers, bidders and other interested parties to complete ESPD in electronic format. The online form can be completed, printed and then sent to the buyer along with the rest of the offer. If the procedure is conducted electronically, the ESPD may be exported, stored and filed electronically. An ESPD filed under an earlier public procurement procedure may be reused, with the condition that provided information remains accurate. Tenderers may be excluded from the procurement procedure or may be prosecuted if information from the ESPD is false, undisclosed or can not be substantiated by supporting evidence.
