

Standard form of the European Single Procurement Document

The European Single Procurement Document, hereinafter the ESPD, is a self-declaration that provides preliminary evidence and replaces the certificates issued by public authorities or third parties. It is available in the State language and English and is used as preliminary proof of fulfilling the conditions required for public procurement procedures in the Republic of Moldova. Due to the ESPD, bidders are no longer required to provide full documentary evidence in different formats, as previously used in public procurement procedures, which is a significant simplification of access to cross-border bidding opportunities. Since October 2018, ESPD will be available exclusively in electronic form.

The Ministry of Finance shall provide a free web service for buyers, bidders and other interested parties to complete the ESPD in electronic form. The online form can be completed, printed and then sent to the buyer together with the rest of the offer. If the procedure is conducted electronically, the ESPD may be exported, stored and filed in electronic form. An ESPD filed in an earlier public procurement procedure may be reused provided that the information remains accurate. Bidders may be excluded from the public procurement procedure or be prosecuted if the information from the ESPD is false, undisclosed or cannot be substantiated by supporting evidence.
