These cracks are a technical phenomenon related to the natural adaptation of wood and its adaptation to environmental climatic conditions. Again, loosening or jamming of the connection bolts and screws occurs in the movements that occur as a result of the difference in summer and winter, season and humidity in products with wooden parts. In order not to deform the product in these movements, the BUYER must maintain the product.

As of 17.04.2024, in the purchases we have made with the above-mentioned company, all our products have been guaranteed by our company for 12 (twelve) months against damages that may occur due to production defects from the invoice date.
