

TANK REPLACEMENT PROCEDURE

During the cycle, if the equipment detects a lack or partial load for one of the products, it informs the user of the need to replace the relevant tank by means of visual and acoustic messages.

This warning is managed so as to allow the operator to be able to replace the corresponding product tank without the need to interrupt and restart the cycle from the start.

When an absence of product load is detected, the screen displays one of the following messages:

